

Lab 3

Telecommunication
Bandwidth	capacity of connection
Call Forwarding	Direct call to another place
DHCP	server that provide address to each device
E Phone	Emergency Phone
IP	address of each device
Network	one or multiple connection
TCO	purchase price of an asset and the costs of operation
TCP	Protocol that control the transmission
VPN	Virtual Private Network
WAN	Wide Area Network

Financial & Securities
Active Screen	Active screens for socially responsible or sustainability investors seek to minimize risk from certain behaviors or encourage specific corporate behaviors such as environmental stewardship, human rights, workplace, leadership and board diversity.
Balance Sheet	A financial statement that shows the assets, liabilities and owners' equity at a particular date.
Bond	A contract between a borrower and a lender in which the borrower promises to pay the face value at maturity and to pay interest at a

	specified rate at regular intervals. Also called a “debt security,” bonds are usually issued by government agencies, municipalities and corporations.
Broker	An agent who handles the public’s orders to buy and sell securities, commodities or other property. For this service a commission or fee is charged.
Capital Asset	An economic resource that is owned or controlled by an entity or person. Some examples include cash, securities and real estate.
Capital Gain	An increase in the value of a capital asset, calculated by the difference in price at which an investment was purchased and the price at which it was sold. An unrealized capital gain is an investment that hasn’t been sold yet but would result in a profit if sold.
Dividend	A payment of cash or stock that is distributed to shareholders. Dividends are financed by profits, and are announced by the company’s board of directors before they are paid.
Green Bonds and Green Loans	Debt instruments where the proceeds are used to fund or refinance specific projects, assets, or business activities with defined environmental benefits.
Liquidity	The ability to quickly convert an investment

	to cash without suffering a noticeable loss in value.
Living Will	A document, which allows people to specify in advance of an illness or injury medical treatments to be administered or withheld.

Financial & Securities
ADHD	Active screens for socially responsible or sustainability investors seek to minimize risk from certain behaviors or encourage specific corporate behaviors such as environmental stewardship, human rights, workplace, leadership and board diversity.
Aorta	A financial statement that shows the assets, liabilities and owners' equity at a particular date.
Cardiac arrest	A contract between a borrower and a lender in which the borrower promises to pay the face value at maturity and to pay interest at a specified rate at regular intervals. Also called a "debt security," bonds are usually issued by government agencies, municipalities and corporations.
Cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR)	An agent who handles the public's orders to buy and sell securities, commodities or other property. For this service a commission or fee is charged.
Capital Asset	An economic resource that is owned or controlled by an entity or person. Some examples include cash, securities and real estate.

Capital Gain	An increase in the value of a capital asset, calculated by the difference in price at which an investment was purchased and the price at which it was sold. An unrealized capital gain is an investment that hasn't been sold yet but would result in a profit if sold.
CCT	Certificated of Completion of Training
Dividend	A payment of cash or stock that is distributed to shareholders. Dividends are financed by profits, and are announced by the company's board of directors before they are paid.
Liquidity	The ability to quickly convert an investment to cash without suffering a noticeable loss in value.
Living Will	A document, which allows people to specify in advance of an illness or injury medical treatments to be administered or withheld.